The Billy Galindo Inspirational Scholarship Award

History

When Billy Galindo attended his 25th Illinois Valley Central (IVC) High School Class Reunion in 2002, he thought that he knew exactly how the evening would go. Along with several other classmates from the IVC High School class of 1977, Billy had helped plan the event. Behind the scenes, however, the others on the reunion planning committee plotted to present Billy with an honorary award from his class.

The Billy Galindo Inspiration Award was created and presented to Billy that night in 2002. The award was then intended to become an annual award given to an IVC senior who had overcome adversity and demonstrated the following characteristics and qualities that Billy possessed:

- A regular participant in extra-curricular activities
- A strong commitment to community service and volunteerism
- A positive attitude toward all with whom he/she associates
- An effective leader
- The ability to foster cohesiveness among the students of IVC

The award recipient was to be selected by a vote of the senior class to determine the three finalists, followed by a vote of the faculty and staff to select the winner

The New “Billy Galindo Inspirational Scholarship Award”

When Billy Galindo passed away on January 25, 2016, he bequeathed funds to be used to transform the existing Inspiration Award into an award that also provided the recipient financial assistance with college expenses. As a result, beginning in May 2016, the award will be renamed the “Billy Galindo Inspirational Scholarship Award”. The award will have the same criteria as in the past.

The additional requirement is that the senior will be attending college or a vocational school in the following academic year such that the award recipient will receive assistance with college or vocational expenses.

The award recipient will be selected by a vote of the senior class to determine the three to five finalists who will then write and submit an essay to the Billy Galindo Inspirational Scholarship Award Board.
